

Sabrina

for Tour Officer

Hi, I'm Sabrina,
a 1st year Geophysicist
from London.

Who Am I + My main goal?

I'm looking to be your next Tour Officer.

My main goal is to create unforgettable (and educational) experiences that bring our studies to life.

I want to organise a couple tours, one local and another further afield (mystery location pending...), that offer practical insights into the world of geophysics.

These trips will provide incredible opportunities for hands-on learning, networking with professionals, and exploring the real-world applications of what we learn in lectures.

Aims and priorities for the tour

Affordable and cost effective

Unforgettable experience

Catering wide range of interests within geophysics

Building connections between year groups

Why am I suited for the role?

I am organised, have strong communication skills, meaning I can effectively liaise with venues, transport providers, and students to ensure everything runs smoothly and everyone is kept in the loop which are all essential for coordinating successful trips.

Strong Communication

Organised & Reliable

Team Player

Student Focused

Let's make memories, build connections, and take our learning beyond G41.
